„CSR is a business contribution to SD”
(European Commission 2001)

Since CSR re-defines state-business and business-society relations, shaping concept and activities also concerns governments and civil society

CSR policies are a new „government contribution to SD“
that complements (or compensates for the lack of) traditional social and environmental policies

Character of policy instruments in general

1. Informational or endorsing instruments:

Campaigns, guidelines, trainings

2. Partnering instruments:

Agreements, networks, PPPs, dialogues

3. Financial or economic instruments:

Taxes, Subsidies, grants, prices/awards

4. Legal (mandating) instruments:

Laws, regulations, decrees

5. „Hybrid instruments“

Strategies, action plans, platforms, centres

CSR policies in the EU-27: instruments and levels of activity

Not traditional social and environmental regulations, but

- Raise awareness and build capacities for CSR
- Foster disclosure, transparency and stakeholder involvement
- Facilitate Socially Responsible Investment (SRI)
- Lead by example (or “walk the talk”) and provide incentives for CSR in applying SD principles to government activities, e.g. through
  - Sustainable Public Procurement
  - SRI in the public domain
  - Adopting social/environmental/SR management systems
  - SD/SR reporting

CSR policies in the EU-27: instruments and levels of activity

1. Rationale

Companies do CSR only if they and their stakeholders are aware of the concept and respective opportunities

2. Method

Telephone survey in August-October 2006

24 interviews plus written information

20 EU Member States covered

3. Results

85 initiatives found

3 case studies

Overview of CSR awareness raising instruments (85)

3 case studies on CSR awareness raising

Denmark:

“People & Profit”

- Programme initiated in 2004
- Activities: research, training, dissemination of information
- Goal: enhance competitiveness (foster CSR as a business case)

Netherlands:

“Knowledge and Information Centre” on CSR since 2004

- Disseminate knowledge and good practices
- Promote stakeholder dialogues
- Foster partnerships

Sweden:

“Globalt Ansvar”

- Partnership for global responsibility
- Government invites companies to join the partnership by adopting the OECD guidelines and the UN Global Compact

1. Rationale

By making public procurement more sustainable, governments lead by example and provide economic incentives for CSR

2. Method

Telephone survey in March-April 2007

24 interviews plus some written information

26 EU Member States covered

3. Results

103 government initiatives found

3 case studies

Three case studies on SPP

France:

Legal Framework on SPP

- Public Procurement Contracts Code/PPCC
- Ordinance & decrees
- Circulars

The UK:

Strategic Framework on SPP

- Sustainable Procurement Action Plan (“the UK aims to be a leader in SPP by 2009”)
- Transforming Government Procurement (aims to build capacity and capability for SPP)

Austria:

GPP Guidelines

- General Government Guidelines on GPP from 1998 (update from 2004 not adopted by government because of “unclear follow-up costs of GPP”)
- “Check it” criteria catalogue for GPP
- “Greening events”

CSR policies in the EU-27: instruments and levels of activity

1. Rationale

SRI is the application of CSR and SD principles in investment decisions - it embeds CSR in the functioning of shareholder capitalism

2. Method

Telephone survey in Nov 2007-Jan 2008
90 contacts and 24 EU MS reached

3. Results

14 initiatives found from 7 EU MS
Most of them briefly summarised (instead of case studies)

The institutional gap in SD and CSR policies

1. CSR policies are different to traditional policy fields
because they rely more on new governance and soft-law
2. Governments have many possibilities to promote CSR - proactively or passively, depending on political ideologies and interests (change of course by the European Commission in 2005/2006!)
3. CSR policies complement traditional policies,
i.e. they cannot replace social, environmental or trade regulations
but they can fill public policy gaps (domestically & internationally)
