RESPONDER links sustainable development and economic growth

The project aims at promoting sustainable development and economic growth by identifying potential contradictions with economic growth, non-growth and development.

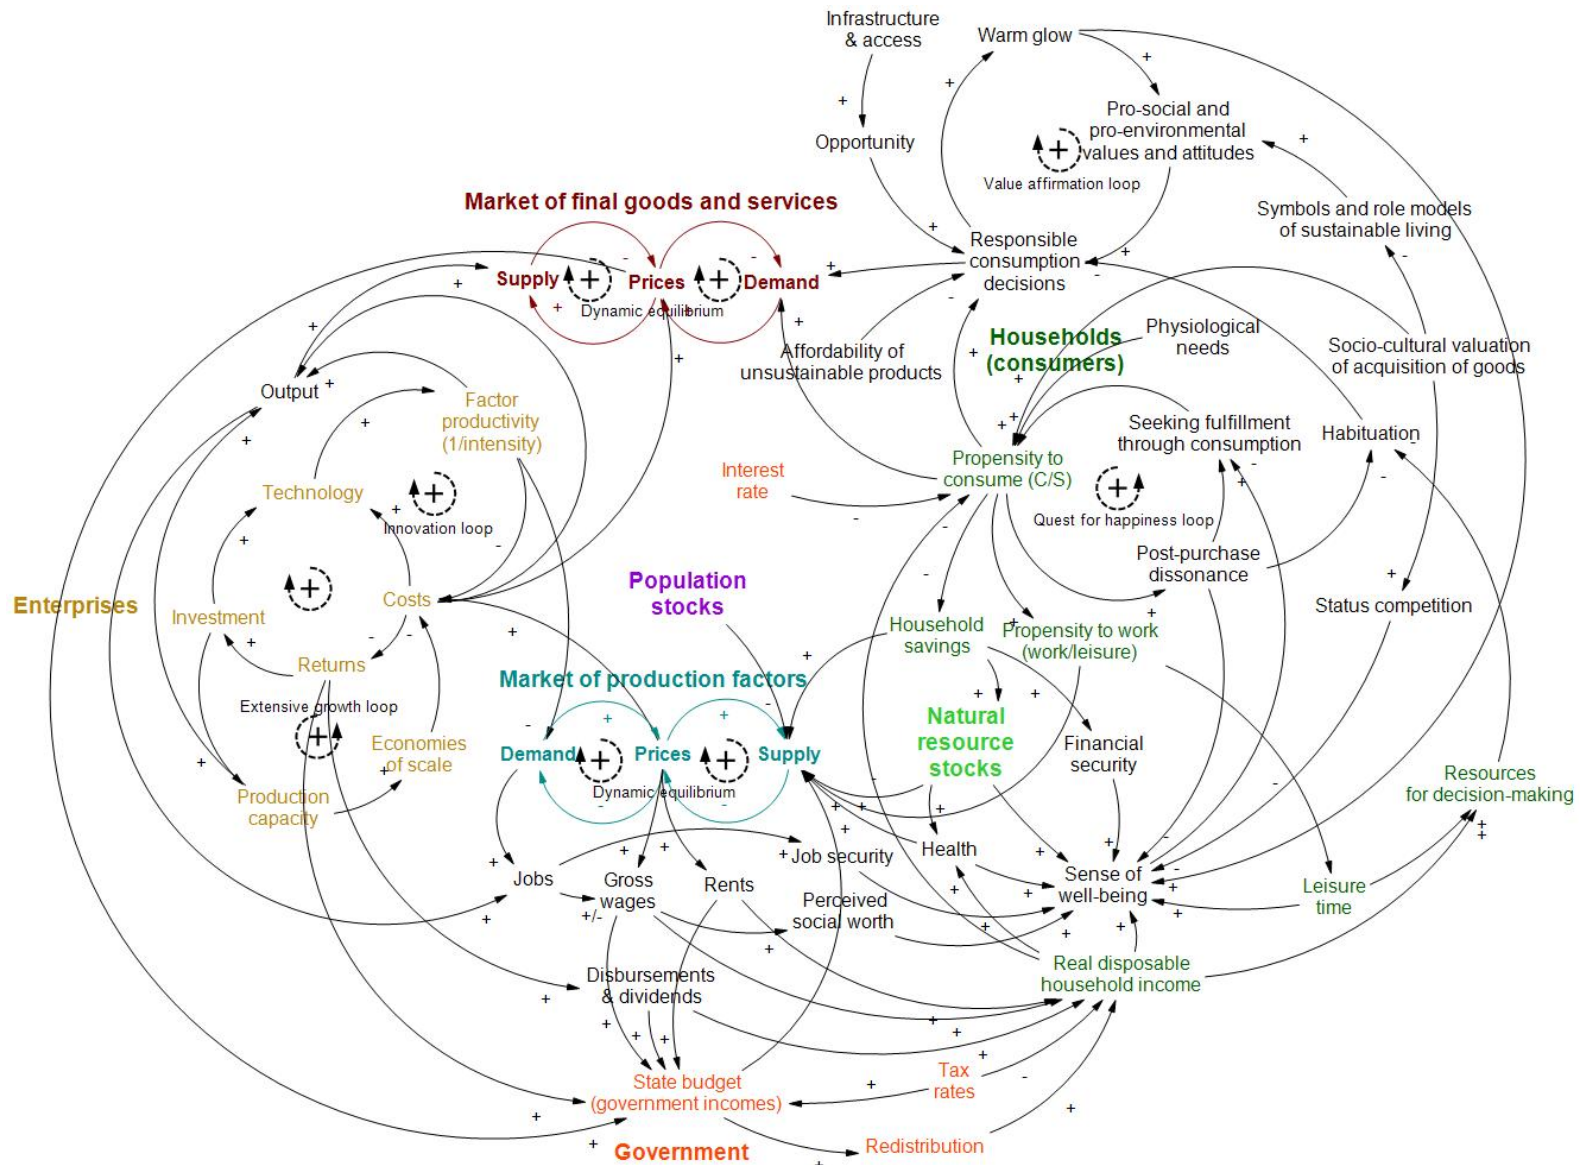

RESPONDER explores novel ways of understanding requires a systemic participatory system mapping in a knowledge brokerage events. This is done through between these events.

RESPONDER links four communities: science, policy, pro-growth and beyond growth: Whether you are a policy maker, a researcher, a CSO or business representative, getting involved in RESPONDER will help you expand your existing networks, provide you with cutting edge research results and achieve greater public visibility.
